Reference letter

STAPRO s. r. o. is a leading supplier of information systems, diagnostics devices and medical equipment and it is also a provider of services in the area of information technology for the health care sector.

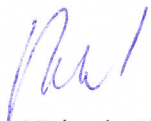

Because we want to be a long-term and stable partner to our customers with a clear and predictable strategy with excellent prospects for further cooperation, and because we want to continue strengthening our position in the Czech Republic and Slovakia, as well as grow beyond the borders of these domestic markets, we use services provided by the VČELIČKA s.r.o. agency.

We choose the VČELIČKA s.r.o. agency for the translation of client contracts with our foreign customers.

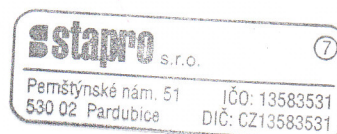

We are very satisfied with the cooperation with the Agency and we appreciate the professional and accommodating approach as well as the speed of the provided services.

We thank the agency very much and recommend it to anyone needing a translation into any world language.
