Mediaforce s.r.o. provides editorial and publishing services. We have been on the market since 1998.

In 2013, we launched a new magazine called Pařížská Street. The magazine is published in Czech, English and Russian.

We chose the VČELIČKA agency as our partner for translations into English and Russian and subsequent proofreading. When selecting the right translation agency, we made our decision based especially on the following factors: quality and speed of the delivery of translations and proofreading, willingness to work outside of regular working hours and, of course, reasonable price.

VČELIČKA is not just a name, it's a concept guaranteeing that our translations will be prepared quickly, in high quality and for a reasonable price. It is not a problem to request a translation on the weekend or in the late evening hours, as VČELIČKA is available at all times. When we are finalizing an article with a client, sometimes it happens that quick corrections are needed. VČELIČKA is able to incorporate them immediately. We noticed already at the beginning of our collaboration that VČELIČKA is able to handle all situations and suggest solutions for them, which makes communication very pleasant.

We especially appreciate the professionalism of Mrs. Trnková, who always knows exactly what we need at the given moment and is able to arrange it immediately.

We will continue working together with the VČELIČKA agency, and we can definitely recommend it to other clients who are looking for a reliable partner in the field of translation.
